E. O. HALL & SON, Ltd.*REPUBLICANS START IN

The Republicans were out in force last night to tell the people what benefits would be derived from voting for the Republican nominees for county offices. There was one meeting at Wai-kihi, another at Kakaako and a third at the Kailua detention camp. The Republican candidates delivered their speeches at one place and then hurried to another to get a word or two in there. In order to facilitate matters buses were used between the King street terminus of the Rapid Transit line and Kailua camp.

At Kailua camp, the first speaker was R. N. Boyd, candidate for surveyor. He said he hoped the whole Republican ticket would be elected. The Republican party was like rich soil, the Home Rule party like rocky soil. Nothing could be planted among the rocks. He told of his connection with the Home Rule party in 1900 and all those present knew that he had been a hard worker for that party. In his experience, he had found that "anti-Home Rule" was the foundation of the Home Rule party itself. County government was likened unto a bird or corporation. The best men should be supported for offices and these would be found on the Republican ticket.

Harry E. Murray made his maiden speech at the camp. He said he was not forced to be a Republican but he was one because he knew it was the best party for the Hawaiians and was the only party which could do anything for them. The speaker characterized himself as a Hawaiian, saying he was proud of it. The remark had been made that the government does not employ Hawaiians. In the Road department there were seven white men and 250 Hawaiians. It was the same thing throughout all the departments. Murray said he had not always been a clerical man. He had been a laboring man and had worked for five years at his trade. He had always found the Republican party the friend of the laboring man. He wanted to know how many Hawaiians the Home Rule party employ if they were to win the election.

W. T. Rawlins, candidate for district attorney, said that in county government the people had what was dear to the heart of every American—a government of, by and for the people. The Republican party would stand by the people and Republican officers would be guided by Kanehahua's proverb that the land shall be governed in righteousness. The speaker said he had lived among the people of the Fifth District for eighteen years. Everybody knew his father and how he stood among the Hawaiians. He had no home across the sea he could go to if turned down. His heart was in this country, where he would always remain.

Frank Pahlia, candidate for supervisor, said that the true principles of Home Rule rested in the Republican party. Therefore this party should appeal to the Hawaiian voters as the party of the people. Mr. Pahlia's speech aroused a great deal of enthusiasm.

George F. Renton was another who made his maiden political speech. He said his way was in doing, not talking. He had been in the islands for forty years and if he lived forty years more he would still be a Republican. His interests were all here. The speaker said he stood squarely on the county platform of the Republican party. The people should give the Republican party the opportunity to put the machinery in motion. Upon the Hawaiians rested the responsibility of electing honest men. These men were in the Republican party.

Senator McCandless and others also spoke at the meeting.

The Kakaako meeting was held in front of W. H. Kailima's house. The first speaker was E. K. Lilikani, who made a long speech in favor of the Republican candidates. He made a particularly strong plea in favor of A. M. Brown.

Chas. Lake interpreted for J. A. Gilman, who told of his thirty years' residence in the islands, of his work for the wharf laborers and how it was the policy of Castle & Cooke to employ none but Hawaiians along the wharves. The Republican candidates were all Hawaiians and stood for honest government.

J. W. Pratt spoke next, saying that the majority of the men in his office were Hawaiians. His wife was a Hawaiian and therefore he could not be expected to go back on the Hawaiians. Jack Lucas told of his experience in the islands, speaking in the native tongue. Mr. Hooking said he was the man who had given cheap beer to Honolulu and that he had been a working man all his life. Paulo Hokii, R. N. Boyd and H. P. Halela each said a few words and then came the remarks of Mark Robinson, who said that the Republican party had given the people county government and should be given a chance to put it into execution. Isaac Sherwood asked for the support of the whole ticket. The meeting then closed with the singing of Hawaii Pono. The Company F quintet club rendered music between the speeches. There were between 250 and 400 people present.

HELENE'S QUICK WORK

The steamer Helene, which arrived from Hawaii ports this morning at 5:40 o'clock, broke the record for loading sugar at Mahukona this trip. On Saturday, September 26, she took on board 5,495 bags of sugar. On Monday, September 28, she took on board 4,070 bags, up till 11:45 a. m. Mr. Fraser, the railroad and steamer agent at Mahukona, stated that this breaks the record for all vessels by nearly two bags. Mahukona is generally considered a rather slow port to load from as all the sugar has to be taken out to the steamer in boats. The sugar has to be taken in cars down to the landing, where it is loaded one bag at a time into the boats. The record of the Helene must be considered a very excellent one.

The three-masted schooner Aloha is at Mahukona prepared to take sugar. The steamer Kailani is expected to take cattle Wednesday and to arrive at Honolulu Thursday. The Helene brought 16,637 bags sugar, 75 head cattle and 1 box merchandise.

NO ORGANIZATION YET.

A meeting of the St. Louis graduates was held on Sunday morning last and it was expected that organization would then be completed and an alumni association formed. However, there was some trouble in the camp and it was decided to postpone further action until a later date. There is a disposition on the part of some of the graduates to rule or ruin, and the boys as a whole will not stand for it.
